To whom it may concern:

I wish to object to the proposed settlement in The NVIDIA GPU Litigation, Case No. 08-cv-04312-JW on the grounds that my HP Pavilion Notebook model, purchased between May 2006 – November 30, 2008, should be included in this settlement but is not.

I have an HP Pavilion Notebook, model #dv9000, product number RP116UA#ABA, that contains the NVIDIA GeForce graphics chip. The screen is now completely nonfunctional.

This same product number: RP116UA, is included in the settlement list for the HP Pavilion Notebook model #dv92xx. Given that the model numbers are so close and the product number is identical (with my model experiencing the same video issue caused by the NVIDIA chip), I believe that my unit should also be included in this settlement.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kari S. Diehl
